The Harris County Area Agency on Aging (HCAAA) is part of a nationwide network coordinating supportive services for older adults as mandated by the Older Americans Act of 1965 and its subsequent amendments. With the Area Agency on Aging acting as an advocate, awareness of the needs of older adults increases through services that assist older adults and their families with options that promote independence, well-being and dignity.

Care Connection Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) is part of a national community of resource centers committed to supporting person-centered, self-directed long-term supports and services systems for older adults and people with disabilities. These systems should effectively assist consumers with identifying and accessing a range of home and community-based resources that maintain individual independence.

The Bridges Conference pulls together HCAAA and ADRC local networks with local, state and national policy makers to discuss and learn about new developments in the aging, disability and veteran communities for 2019 and beyond, from local, state and national perspectives.

As part of the Bridges Conference, exhibitor and sponsorship opportunities are available for businesses and organizations to promote their products and services to support HCAAA and ADRC initiatives.
